

WHAT THEY SAY . . .

'No More Divine Right'

WASHINGTON — Sen William A. Blakely, D-Tex arguing against curtailment of debate in the Senate

"There is no more divine right to majority rule than there is divine right to monarchy."

MONROVIA Calif — Mrs Carol Benedictus telling of the pet 18-inch alligator she ordered by mail and how it snapped at her when she opened the parcel

"It finally chased me up on top of a table"

NEW YORK — White House Press Secretary James Hagerty announcing leaving his $21,000 government post for an estimated $50,000 position with the American Broadcasting Company commenting on his salary

"I can get by on it — it's more than I get now"

BANGKOK Thailand — SEATO Secretary General Pote Sorasin saying the situation in Laos depends on the Communists

"If their activities lessen, then tension will lessen"

Mail-Order Alligator Proves To Be Bargain

MONROVIA Calif (UPI)—Mrs Carol Benedictus got more than she bargained for when she bought a mail order baby alligator

Mrs Benedictus said she bought the alligator when she was visiting in New Orleans. When a three by six inch package arrived special delivery Monday she eagerly opened it

Out sprang an 18-inch long alligator more than a little annoyed at being cramped up in the container

He snapped at me you know getting up on his legs in a defensive position. I tried to corner him with a larger box but I couldn't. It finally chased me up on top of a table"

She managed to get down and call deputy sheriffs who quickly corralled the alligator placing it in a shallow pan of water where it quickly relaxed and went to sleep

"Yes I got more than I bargained for in more ways than one said Mrs Benedictus. 'The people where I bought it didn't know how much the postage would be so I gave them $6 thinking they would put the change in the box'

But when this was all over—the alligator was in the pan—I looked in the box and there was a little turtle he had sent me to make up for the extra money I gave them"

U.S., Canada Join In Espionage Hunt

LONDON (UPI) — American and Canadian authorities fues the day were reported to have joined the British in a massive spy hunt touched off by the arrests of five persons on charges of stealing military secrets

British security officials and government authorities were silent on the reports of the joint anti-spy operations

Three men and two women were taken into custody Saturday on charges of violating the Official Secrets Act. Two were civilian employees of the admiralty at the warfare research center in Dordrecht

The station's program was said to be the joint concern of Britain and the United States. Some of the anti-submarine devices being developed to combat the Soviet Union's numerical superiority in submarines were said to be revolutionary American advances

The foreign power involved in the spy charges was not named but it was presumed to be Russia

Officials of Scotland Yard's special branch replied to all queries on the reported spy hunt with a no comment. Military and naval intelligence agencies also refused to comment

The foreign office declined to confirm or deny a published report that Prime Minister Harold Macmillan had ordered security agencies to keep him advised of all counter espionage developments

British intelligence officials also were said to be forwarding a full report on security measures at Portland and on the counter espionage activities to the admiral in charge of the British Joint Services Mission in Washington for relay to American authorities
